I wish you'd fred my needle, And find my fimble too— I has such heaps a sowin' I don't know what to do.

My Hepsey tored her apron A tum'lin' down the stairs, And Cesar's lost his pantaloons, And needs another pair. I wants my Maud a bonnet,

She hasn't mone at all, And Fred must have a jacket, His ozzer one's too small. I wants to go to grandma's, You promised me I might, I know she'd like to see me,

I wants to go to night. She lets me wash the dishes,

And see in grandpa's watch—
I wish I'd free, four pennies
To buy some butter scotch.

I wants some newer mittens—
I wish you'd knit me some,
'Cause most my fingers freezes,
They leaks so in the fum.

I wore'd 'em out last summer, A oullin' George's sled; I wish you wouldn't laugh so— It hurts me in my head.

f wish I had a cookie,
I'm hungry's I can be,
If you hasn't pretty large ones,
You'd better bring me free

I wish I had a p'ano—
Won't you buy me one to keep?
O dear! I feels so tired,
I wante to go to sleep.

Sad Predicamet of a Lady.

A beautiful belle, whose mother kept a genteel boarding house in Amity street, induced one of her mamma's boarders to introduce her to a first-class fashionable up-town dentist of his acquaintance, as she wanted a set of artificial teeth. Her mamma accompanied her, and directed the dentist to insert them on heavy gold plates, in the highest style of the art, without regard to expense. On the first visit the young lady's stumps were extracted, and soon thereafter she had a mouthful of goldplate and pearl artificial teeth, which added greatly to her natural charms and acquired graces. But the bill was not paid, and after a collector had worn out some shoe-leather and exhausted his patience in trying to get pay from the mother, the dentist related the circumstances to his friend.

But he was very much surprised and displeased at her conduct, and proposed to engage the miss and her mamma in conversation in the parlor the following morning, adding that if she did not pay him on that occasion, he would pay the bill himself and quit the house. It was agreed that the deutist should call at a specified hour. He called at the time appointed, and after passing a few minutes in general conversation, he changed the subject and talked business.

Mamma, of course, professed to be very sor ry that she was unable to pay the "doctor," but would certainly do so in a few days. As he was apparently about to depart, he casually asked the daughter how she liked her teeth. and she replied that they were perfect and pleased her very much.

"Do they ever slip or pain you?" kindly asked the doctor. "Very seldom, doctor," she replied; sometimes they pinch me a little, but I suppose that can't be avoided."

"Oh, yes," said the polite dentist, pulling a pair of little nippers from his pocket, "allow me to bend the plates a little with my nippers, and it will not occur again," at the same time holding out his hand to receive them. The unsuspecting maiden pulled them out and handed them to the "doctor," who, instead of nipping them with his pinchers, quietly wrapped them up in his handkerchief and placed them in his pocket, and politely but firmly told the terrified beauty that when her mamma paid his bill she should have them, but not hefore. As the girl was engaged to be married to a well-to-do young gentleman who had never seen her without teeth, who was expected return to this city and hand her to the hymenial altar in a few days, that bill was paid.

WHERE IS POUGHKEEPSIE. - A wellknown Brooklyn politician, noted for his waggery, stopped the conductor of an Albany train on which he was journeying last winter, and asked innocently if the next station was Poughkeepsie? "No," said the conductor. On his next fare collecting round, the conductor was again asked if the train was nearing l'oughkeepsie; to which he again replied negatively. Again and again, as the official made his rounds, the same question was asked by the anxious passenger, until at last the man of checks replied with some irritation in his

"No sir; we are not yet near your stopping place. Pray trust to me, and I will let you know when we shall get there."

The passenger thereupon relapsed into silence and the official, engrossed with other duties, forgot his ease until the train left Poughkeepsie about half a mile to the rear. when recollecting himself, he hastily backed the cars to the station, and rushing up to the troublesome passenger, cried out:

"This is Poughkeepsie. Hurry up and get off. We are behind time." "Oh thank you," deliberately drawled the quandam questioner; "but I am going thro." My daughter cautioned me particularly to take a pill at Poughkeepsic. That's all." The pill was taken-and so was the joke

-by the passengers. - A little boy, who had been told that he must never ask for anything to cat when away from home, went into a neighboring house one day when the lady chanced to be frying doughnuts.

'Ah,' said he, 'you are cooking.' Aware that he had been well trained and, anxious to see if his appetite would get the better of his manners, the lady did not give him any of the doughnuts. 'Well,' said he, returning to the subject, 'your cakes look nice.'

'Oh, very nice,' said the lady, 'they are the best I ever cooked.'

After playing with a cat a while, he remarked: 'And they smell nice.'

'Oh, yes, they smell nice,' was the lady's tantalizing answer. 'Well said the boy, 'suppose if any little child that was hungry should come in here when you were cooking that you would give him something to eat?"

'Well, yes, I think I would.' 'Well,' said he after another turn with the eat, 'I guess I must go home for I am very

It is needless to add that he got a dough-- "Arrah, Pat, and why did I marry ye? -just tell me that? for it's myself that's had to maintain ye ever since the blessed day that father O'Flannagan sent me home to yer house." "Swate jewel," replied Pat, not relishing the charge, "and it's myself that hopes I may live to see the day when yo're a widow weeping over the cold sod that covers me; then, by St. Patrick, I'll see how ye get along without me, honey." - Spurgeon thinks some ministers would make good martyrs-they are so dry they would burn well.

I ALL BAKING POWDER.—We would call the attention of our customers to this article of Baking Powder, which we manufacture ourselves. It produces lighter, sweeter and more wholesome articles of food than any other article in use. Those who have tried it pronounce it superior to anything of the kind yet offered for making Wheat or Corn Bread, Biscuits, Waffles, Mulfins, Puddings, Apple Dumplings, Pot Pies, and every other description of Pastry. It is decidedly the most convenient and economicle article in use. All we ask is for our friends to give it a trial. To be had in any quantity at our drug store.

and availed themselve of his wonderfully efficaceous needleines, they would be wonderfully efficaceous needleines, they would not be proved that wherever sufficient vitality remain, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthing vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptions, To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing, its paideophy requires no argument. It is self-astring, self-convincing.

The bear weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thinks of the cases of consumption originate in despepsin and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial times "sympathine" with the stomach. They recomes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes the moduline action of the liver. Here then comes all the bloods arching, alternity properties of enternet, but undearching, alternity in now levels and actions.

"E.E.A V E. NO STENG SECRETED." The work of cure is now beginning. The witiated and nutrous deposits in the howels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to fact that he is cetting, at last,

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is aimost impossible to prevent inking coid when the imags are discussed, but it must be prevented or a cure can not be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country, in the fall and winter sensitive as all wrong. Physicians who recommend that are all wrong. Our experience in the business which we advertise to conduct, and our theroughacquaintance with it in all its branches, enable us to assure the public that any work entrusted to us will be executed in the most workmanlike manner, and with the atmost dispatch. Having stood to their poets in the Confederate army during the four years struggle which it so manfully encountered, they have located in their native county, where their services are offered in building up the waste places, and in carrying out practical reconstruction.

Particular attenticn given at all times to the drawing of plans and specifications; and in the construction of GEOMETRICAL STAIRWAYS, where calculation is required, they are confident that they cannot be surpassed by any workmen in the Valley of virginia.

(C) Being well known in the community, they deem it unnecessary to say more, than that orders left for them will receive prompt attention.
